Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America®
ST. LOUIS CHAPTER

Rising Leaders

As a Rising Leader, you will:

- Learn about the operations of a non-profit
- Receive mentorship from engaged and influential AAFA-STL Board members
- Help shape the Rising Leaders Program for future classes
- Bring a new perspective to AAFA-STL leadership and committees
- Help AAFA-STL fulfill its mission and execute its strategic plan

Who are Rising Leaders?

Energetic and collaborative individuals who are passionate about healthcare, interested in making an impact in the St. Louis asthma and allergy community, and excited to learn about the non-profit space.

Involvement:

- Represent and be an ambassador for the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America, St. Louis Chapter (AAFA-STL)
- Create, plan and implement a fundraising event each year (with the support of AAFA-STL staff)
- Serve on an AAFA-STL committee

Mission Statement - "To become the next generation of leaders who impact the asthma and allergy community through service, collaboration and innovation."

"As a St. Louis med-tech entrepreneur, I am proud to be involved in such an innovative, non-profit organization that is dedicated to helping St. Louis children breathe better. AAFA STL is constantly evaluating new ways to further fulfill their mission. The Rising Leaders Program is a selective group of young professionals that will bring a new perspective to the organization and have the opportunity to be exposed to the board-level operations of a growing non-profit organization."
-Abby Cohen
Co-Founder, Sparo Labs
Chair, AAFA-STL Rising Leaders Program

Member Expectations

- Responsible and self-motivated
- Strong communication skills
- Ability to initiate and execute a major independent event
- Passionate about non-profit organizations and causes
- Willingness to advocate AAFA-STL's mission and programs
- Interest in non-profit/healthcare organizations
- Required working hours: on average 2 - 3 hours/month
- Two- year commitment
