THE [IN]SIDER

[SUMMERING IN THE HAMPTONS]

The familiar face and polished style you saw in the July issue of Traditional Home was local designer Joy Tribout. The magazine features a polo-inspired room that Tribout and daughter/design partner Tammy Caruso concocted for Traditional Home's 2011 Hampton Designer Showhouse, chaired by renowned designers Mario Buatta and Alexa Hampton.

[NATIONWIDE RECOGNITION]

Congratulations to St. Louis Children's Hospital, recently ranked one of the nation's best by U.S. News & World Report. Children's was ranked in the top 10 percent in orthopedics, pulmonology, and neurology and neurosurgery. The hospital tied for the No. 9 spot with three others, including Johns Hopkins Children's Center. Barnes-Jewish Hospital also was recognized, placing No. 6 in its 20th consecutive inclusion on the list.

[RENEWED EFFORTS]

St. Patrick Center recently received a $955,000 grant renewal from the United States Department of Veterans Affairs to help fund the agency's work with homeless vets.

JOE ABERNATHY

[GREEN TEAM]

St. Louisan Joe Abernathy, vice president of stadium operations at Busch Stadium, was recently recognized at the Sports and Sustainability event at the White House, hosted by the President's Council on Environmental Quality. Abernathy was honored for his efforts to reduce energy consumption and promote sustainable stadium operations.

ALBERT KUO

[KAYAKING FOR A CAUSE]

Sports enthusiast Patrick Albert doesn't let his asthma and allergies keep him from enjoying the outdoors. To encourage kids who share his conditions, Albert recently made multiple journeys of 100 miles or more via skates, bicycle and kayak to raise money and awareness for the Asthma & Allergy Foundation of America, St. Louis Chapter. His latest endeavor was a 340-mile kayak race on the Missouri River from Kansas City to St. Charles.
